My first day on planet Nog. At last! Our intergalactic rocket bus had come to rest and we started to collect our stuff. Anxious to be one of the first human children from earth ever to set foot on planet Nog, I had mixed feelings.

We looked around for the first time. It was full of slimey dirty oceans with loads of deep bugs. There were tiny emerald green people with thin legs like fish here and there were legs.

I was very bright and I didn't understand why it was here. Was it more sure? Yes, there was I see them now there was two of them and three mores.

A thing pig came out of the sea, it was pink with brown smelly patches on it with slimey wees waved round his legs. His name is Reidi. He is the transport for needed primary school in Nog.
